STEFAN WOLKERSTORFER
PRODUCT MANAGER

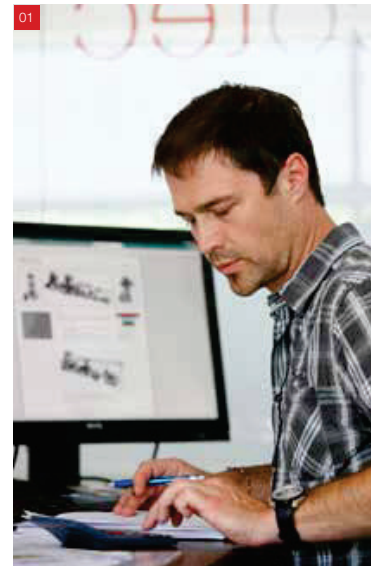

My name is Stefan Wolkerstorfer and I am the “latest” member of the viscotec family. I joined Starlinger in November 2015 and after working for 4 months I can say that I have not regretted my decision one single moment. The excellent company atmosphere is very professional while still being familiar.

As a product manager, I have the opportunity to work in different departments of the company as part of the viscotec’s development program, which will also benefit our customers. As the competent link between our sales- and technicians department I will be able to meet our customers’ needs by providing solutions for specific technical challenges.

‘Always move forward’ is one of my guiding principles and therefore I appreciate to be part of a team that develops day by day.

Due to my Mechatronic education at the Johannes Kepler University in Linz I have acquired an established knowledge of different engineering & science fields and have now the great opportunity to apply that in an innovative and future orientated company.

For me it is important to think about our future on mother earth. Therefore, recycling is an important matter and working for a company like viscotec is a great opportunity.
